Newsletter No 22 Friday 15th February 2019

Dear Families,

An end to another busy half term. We have seen some wonderful learning from the children and their knowledge on owls, fair trade and the stone age has astounded us. Our themes continue next half term so we are looking forward to sharing more of this with you through open afternoons, the blog and 'cafes for all'.

Over this term we have had many visitors to our school and we have been really proud to show them around. There have been many positive comments on our environment and the behaviour and attitudes of the children. Well done to all.

We have had our challenge partner visits over the past two weeks where we have been able to talk about the progress the children are making, whether we are on track for our current predictions and review teaching and learning within each class. We have focussed this on QUEST time by looking in children's books. There are some very clear next steps for us to discuss and implement which will further enhance the presentation of the work.

Enjoy the half term – lots more to look forward to when we return.
